

Editor's Comment:

After having reviewed the original version of the manuscript (MS); As well as the version corrected by the author, I have come to the conclusion that the MS is in a position to be accepted for publication in the Journal.

I agree with the reviewers, the research describes the behavior of trace metals throughout the year in a region that, due to anthropogenic actions, is susceptible to contamination and can be harmful to human health.

The MS is good and its methodology can help other researchers to continue monitoring the area or others.
